OUR COUNTRY.

The fertile plains of the North West Territories are destined at no distant day to be the greatest wheat producing region in the world. The richness of the soil and the rapidity with which the virgin prairies may be converted into "rolling fields of golden grain," render this the most suitable quarter of the globe to which the industrious people of the over-crowded countries of the Old World can come in order to better their circumstances and reap for themselves and their children that measure of prosperity which is due to those who honestly and perseveringly endeavor to help themselves. To all those who desire, or whom necessity compels to come to a new country, we would say that, while we believe that our soil is the most productive of the known world, we also believe that the actual settlers can obtain it from the Dominion Government and from the C. P. R. Syndicate at rates lower than are charged in any other colonies of the United Kingdom or the United States; and hence, those desirable lands are within the reach of all.

The climate, though cold in winter and very warm in summer, is the most healthful one, and we are fully satisfied that it compares favorably with that of the older provinces of the Dominion, and the extravagant expressions of praise which emigrants from the United Kingdom bestow on their clear atmosphere and its invigorating qualities, convince us that the clouds, rains and fogs of the British Isles are more objectionable climatic features than our periods of extreme heat and cold.

While much more could be said in favor of our country, we do not wish it to be understood that this is a terrestrial paradise, where fortunes are acquired without labor or hardships of any kind, but we do intend it to be understood that it presents, to the industrious and frugal better opportunities to acquire a competence than they can expect to meet with elsewhere.

A certain amount of labor must be done, and hardships more or less severe must be undergone in opening up all new countries, but in the North West Territories the minimum of outlay seems to be rewarded with the maximum of income.

In consequence of these facts becoming more widely known, our country is being rapidly settled up, and to those people who are struggling against adverse circumstances in other lands, we say come and receive while you may, as a gift, your share of our prairies, and out of the fruits of your toil provide a rich inheritance for your children in a country where their religious belief subjects them to no hardships; where law and order reign, and happiness and prosperity are the conditions of its people.

The Saskatchewan Herald, published at Battleford, N.W.T., in its issue of December 9th, contains an illustrated and spiteful notice of THE PRINCE ALBERT TIMES, which for the sake of journalistic courtesy had better have been omitted. We acknowledge and bow to the superior age of the Herald, but we must remind our contemporary that old age does not always bring wisdom, nor is a hoary head necessarily a crown of glory. Without arrogance or undue presumption, we think we can lay claim to the position of "the first-class newspaper of the Saskatchewan district." We give our readers WEEKLY thirty columns of original and selected matter, whilst our contemporary furnishes sixteen columns (about one-third original) once a fortnight; and we think that as regards the "amount of information furnished, and the kind of matter published," we will compare favorably with our contemporary, and are not quite so far behind the "pioneers of the press," the Herald of Battleford, or the Bulletin of Edmonton, as brother Laurie seems to imagine. However, that is a matter of opinion, which we are quite content that the public should decide. There is abundance of room in this great North West for all of us to work in without treading upon each other's corns, and whilst, of course, advocating primarily the interests of Prince Albert, we trust that we are sufficiently liberal minded to have a good word for the rest of the North West Territories, Battleford included.

TO THE FUTURE.

We have made arrangements to leave papers at T. J. Agnew's hardware store the Post Office, T. N. Campbell's news store and Mackley & Co's dry goods store. Those living near any of the above mentioned places will find their papers there. Also at this office.

At the battle of Tel-el-Kebir three army chaplains (Catholic, Anglican and Presbyterian) were with the advancing British troops. The Catholic chaplain, Father Bellord, was one of the first wounded, being struck by a bullet in the leg. The Church of England chaplain perceiving the mislay of his comrade immediately hoisted Father Bellord on his shoulder and carried him to the field hospital, where he was attended to. The spectacle of a Protestant clergyman hastening over the battlefield with a Catholic priest on his shoulders attracted no little attention among those who witnessed the incident.

MINING MATTERS.

The mining interests of the Lake of the Woods are assuming such proportions now that agencies for the purchase and sale of stock are being established. Messrs. D. K. Brown and J. F. Moughler have opened what is termed a "Mining Bourse," in the Dundas block, in the office underneath the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former is a well-known journalist and the latter an expert in mining matters, and should be well qualified for the enterprise they have just organized. Operations will be begun by offering to the public a subscription of $25,000 Treasury Stock of the Winnipeg Consolidated Gold Mining Company, of which the incorporators are: Messrs. A. W. Ross, P. H. N. Rutten, P. J. Brown, J. R. Perryman. The shares which have a par value of $50, will be floated at $25. To secure registration and guarantee allotment of twenty per cent of the selling price, equivalent to $5 per share, has to be paid down, and the remaining $20 has to be forthcoming upon allotment, which will be made a few weeks hence. There is considerable enquiry of late for this stock. In the next year it is not likely that more than $25,000, certainly not more than $50,000 will be placed upon the market, and as the selling prices of mining stock are determined by the progress of development the present is the most favorable opportunity of any for securing stock. The average assays of location P 22, give $100 a ton, free milling; of location P 62 give $30 per ton by concentrating. The property is wholly under Canadian control, and under the able supervision of Mr. J. R. Brown, who has had considerable experience as a miner. The Winnipeg consolidated company has one on the dump already sufficient to pay working expenses up to date six times over. The prospect must be brilliant, for the Consolidated mines are only three miles from those of the Kewatin company whose assays have been of almost incredible richness. The shares of the Kewatin are quoted to day at par and difficult to obtain at these figures, so those of the Consolidated are bound to rise in sympathy, independent of their unquestioned intrinsic value. The Bourse is sole representative of the Winnipeg Consolidated in the floating of this small block of stock, and only by buying at the Bourse can allotment be guaranteed. Specimens of gold and other precious minerals from the different mining locations referred to, are to be found at the Bourse, and those interested in mining are cordially invited to inspect them. The enterprise of floating a mining Bourse in this city has our best wishes for success. — Winnipeg Free Press.

THE RETURN OF THE WIFE.

It was in a horse car. She had been away for several months, and the children had gone to the depot to meet her. They chatted away merrily, while she patted their little heads and smiled interestedly.

"How's Mary?" she enquired; when they both stopped for breath.

"Oh, she's well," she takes her usual leave right along.

"And Harry?"

"He's going to school. Started last week."

"And papa?"

"He's well, too. He's having a bully time. He said he didn't care if you didn't come back for a year."

The passengers roared.

Grabbing the children with both hands she rushed for the door with "I'll get even with you for this expression on her face. Heaven help him."

The Rev. M. J. Savage, of Boston, preached a sermon on newspapers. "People often hold," he said, "that the world is more wicked now than it ever was before. An explanation of this, I believe, will be found in the fact that no man who is not so utterly alone and so far away that what he does and says cannot be reported as news is safe to day in the commission of crime, for his chances are that very soon he will see his name in a newspaper telling all about him, and this, if you think of it, is the one thing that the average man fears more than he fears God, more than he hopes for heaven, and more than he dreads hell." On the other hand, Mr. Savage blames the news, as it is because he thinks they are generally cynical in tone.

A gentleman, while talking at a social gathering, was asked his side, after a long delay. "By the way, how about that?" Have you taken out a warrant against him?" "He is in jail," replied the law man, and dived again. The gentleman sat right on more of it, but on getting his account he found: "To consultation and see, agent the two centers of change, six and eight pens."
